Dear Graeme:

It was a great pleasure for Janie and myself to see you the other evening and to meet [redacted] We enjoyed seeing you again so very much and do hope that we can arrange a meeting wherein Rosamond will be present.

About [redacted] I can tell you that things are going very well, and she should have some favorable information from us very soon. I think she will be of great assistance.

Some time this fall we must make a great effort to have Rosamond and yourself and Janie and myself have a party somewhere. Meanwhile we all send best love and with best wishes, I am

Sincerely,

A + deep 9-1-48

Dear Hilby,

Though it is too hot to write a full letter, I thought to drop you a word about [redacted]

STAT

[redacted] With a number of hot irons in the fire she wanted my advice as to whether she should accept something immediately available or wait an indefinite time for your outfit. I advised the latter, unless it meant a delay of several months.

Rosamond sends her love to Jane and says she is going to plan on the four of us getting to-gether in the near future.

It was fine seeing you,
Regards,
Graeme
